

14 September 1964

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Cline

As I mentioned on the phone, I suggest this paper be expanded by including as deep an analysis as possible of the Buddhist movement, objectives, political actions and organization. By dealing with the background of the Buddhist movement and its objectives as you have with the Catholic movement, you can bring into focus reasons for the existing and growing differences between the two organizations.

Halberstam dealt with the subject in this morning's Times and so did Peter Grose in yesterday's Times, copies of both articles attached.

*

JOHN A. McCONE
Director

Attachments:

*Dictated but not read